

HOUSE RULES EDITED: Staropramen

This page is a community for all our fans of legal drinking age. It's important for us to hear what members of our community think. We have some House Rules (or terms & conditions), the full details of which are described below, that you are deemed to have accepted by liking this page, or becoming a follower. These rules are necessary so that we can build a community that's as great as possible, and because we take the responsible marketing of alcohol seriously.

Some specific rules for contributions to our page include:

- Do not forward or share the contents of this page to anyone under the legal drinking age.
- Do not upload pictures of yourself or other people who look or are under 25 years of age.
- Do not post sexually suggestive text or content.
- Do not promote drinking to excess, smoking, illicit drugs, drink driving, or other irresponsible activities.
- Do not post inappropriate, rude, abusive or discriminatory comments, images or videos that others may find offensive.
- Do not swear or use foul language.
- Do not post spam, advertising or links to external websites.
- Do not post personal information about yourself that should remain private.

Please make sure that what you post is factually correct and legally permissible, and isn't defamatory, threatening, abusive, discriminatory, offensive, an invasion of privacy, or an infringement of any third party's copyright or other intellectual property rights. If a person or organisation hasn't given you express permission to use his, her, or its name, photos, or audio/video content on our page, please don't post it. All material posted on this fan page must comply with the platforms Terms of Use.

Our page is moderated regularly to ensure our house rules are maintained. The comments that violate our House Rules may be removed. Although we don't like removing comments, this is sometimes necessary to ensure our page continues to provide a great community for all our Fans. We reserve the right to remove comments at any time for any reason without prior notice. Please treat all other contributors with respect and consideration.

Please keep in mind that offenders may be reported and blocked from participating on the page. We are not responsible or liable for any content posted or uploaded to this page/platform by its users, or any content on third party sites. If you do come across a comment or content on our page that you consider inappropriate, please report it or mark it as spam via the page options presented.

If you'd like to contact us with a complaint, compliment, provide feedback, or say hello to our brands or products, please don't hesitate to use the 'message' button to get in touch. We'll get back to you as soon as possible!

We encourage responsible drinking, please visit www.drinkaware.co.uk for the facts.